Junior Digital Designer

The idiosyncratic marketing bunch at Sentec is looking for a new creative designer to join our band.

We have a lot of content, we have a lot of data, we have a lot of demand for both. We need some help making it all look pretty.

Working directly with our current creative wunderkind (...we're Swiss-owned) Laura Mae Barboza, our new designer will help us with everything from digital advertisements to web layout (but no coding).

Basically, if a project needs to fit into the visual identity of Sentec within the digital space, this person will be working on it. The marketing team does almost all of our work in-house: we expand our presence through social media graphics, educate with the use of Newsletters and PowerPoint presentations, communicate complex topics using data visualization. We cut video and trim audio. There are images to crop. Ratios to...re-ratio.

All of that is to say: this position offers a fantastic opportunity to work on a fun team that does literally* everything and never says no to a great idea.

This is a hybrid WFH position, with three-days in-office at our Lincoln, RI headquarters (right off the highway, conveniently located near really, really good ice cream, coffee, sushi and falafel).

To apply please send a resume and cover letter to our friend Liza at jobs.us@sentec.com.
